

Opening Note

Before you step into this story...

Take a breath. Not every love story begins with butterflies — some begin with responsibilities, broken memories, and a child who holds two hearts together.

This isn't a perfect world.

But maybe... just maybe, it holds a place for healing.

Thank you for choosing to be here.

Now, let's walk across this bridge — one emotion at a time.

Now the story begins...